Health Dept.

Edited by D. L. Roush M. D.
Meade, Kansas

When should one take drugs and when not take them? This is a most important question and of great interest. Many are denouncing all medicine, while others are taking drugs in larger and more injurious forms than ever.

Both are partly in the right and partly wrong. Medicine has its use and its abuse.

But what is the safe and sane method to follow as to whether to take medicine, what kind to take, and how much.

Here is the rule: Take medicine only when prescribed by one who has carefully diagnosed your condition and knows your need, and who thoroughly understands the contents of the medicine and its effects.

Don't take a medicine because someone who knows little of your condition and less of the dose of which he pretends to be so wise, urges it on the grounds that it at one time is said to have cured "Smith's step-mother of hysterics."

Maybe you do not have hysteria, and if you do, there are several different kinds.

There are many cures for rheumatism, but less than one third of the cases called rheumatism are rheumatism, and of these there are several kinds, and each is treated differently. There are over 300 kinds of skin diseases and what will cure one will not cure another. There 1100 kinds of tumor. Would you treat them all alike?

Had a Wonderful Scheme
SOME things in this world are quite funny to me. There are some that I can't understand. I guess it's because I was raised on a farm and have never been off land very much. A fellow come some soap for a club. He didn't look wise—he didn't look smart—was rather a sort of a dub. But he told of a wonderful and great scheme he had. He told of bargains galore—of a wonderful soap of powerful strength, that one could not get at a store. He told how he'd give us a bushel of soap for a rusty old ten dollar bill and furnish our dwelling from cellar to top and build us a barn on a hill. But I guess that my head was too thick for his game. I couldn't quite figure it out. Every time I'd start in to dig up the cash I'd double all up in a doubt. The merchants, you see, who live in our town, I am very sorry to say, have never yet been able, so far as I know to peddle their soap that way. But it may be though that his plan was right, but I can't quite see it now—how I could sell ten bushels of wheat and throw in a Jersey cow.

"It's Good"

says Mrs. Ada Boyer, of Versailles, Mo., in writing her praise of Theford's Black-
Draught. She further says: "We have been constant users of The-
ford's Black-Draught for 22 years, and have raised seven children with it. We gave it to them at teething, and it
relieved spasms."

Have also found
THEFORD'S
BLACK-
DRAUGHT

to correct all stomach
troubles, and for bad
colds and fever, it always worked a cure.
My married daughter is using it with good results with her little baby.
Purely vegetable,
containing no harmful
mineral ingredients
Theford's Black-
Draught has become the standard household remedy. It should be in your home. Get a
